

Getting the best from your bare bottomed butler!

Your butler is there for your fun and amusement. This slightly patronising little guide will help you to get the most out of him ;-). Although he's an interesting person you don't have to worry because (a) you're probably planning to see his bum anyway and (b) his mission today is to make you laugh so you don't need to worry about sparing his blushes! Your butler is fully interactive and having his professionalism and nerve tested is all part of your fun.

He is polite, totally professional and discrete. He knows your party is about you, your guests and especially the guest of honour – not him. He's happy to amuse and be amusing. Waiting and serving is all part of the job but helping set up, fetching and carrying is no problem. Your butler can cope with happy, friendly, maybe playful hens and won't throw a strop if they jostle or hug.

Your butler can be cheekily smart in an apron and bow tie, start smart and change on cue or even cover up if you have sensitive guests. For more fun try one of the top 5 fun butler themes;

1. Bunny? – butler too dignified? Add some ears and a tail for your favourite pet?
2. Angel/Devil – feeling naughty or nice? Have your butler to match your mood.
3. Masqued ball – sophisticated service with an air of Venetian mystery..
4. 50 Shades of fun – have him in matching collar and cuffs!
5. Next to nothing – he's still a gentleman in just a figleaf!

He's a normal, fit and popular life model, not a smooth, oily body builder, so if even an apron is too much he can serve au naturelle and won't ever be fighting you for the mirrors.

Care and maintenance: You don't have to feed him but he loves cake and appreciates a cool drink if he's had to travel for long to reach you. If it's cold please put the heating on.

Photos: Take any photos you like, perhaps with cameras provided so we can collect and send them to the organiser to share (or not) so your photos are under your control? A photo finale is a great souvenir; jump as he poses or add names to his back for a 'girls on tour' centre piece!

Royal requests: Party ideas or themes are cool, if you have requests go right ahead and ask. He may blush but he's your subject and if he really doesn't want to do something he'll let you know!

Games: Need a judge, referee or victim for challenges? He can do that and even bring ideas; Classics like Statue - Make him laugh Stable table - Jenga style drinks Pass the butler - and pick a forfeit I Never Ever – a hen favourite Truth or Dare - got any tricky questions? Maybe plan dares for everyone to make the most of your butler! Or how about holding a Prosecco Olympics?

Bare bottomed butler rules:

1. Only the butler is exploited, guests never, ever have to do anything they don't want to.
2. Graffiti is OK (washable and not the face!) as long as it won't spoil a later party.
3. If you can't resist a slap go ahead but please don't leave marks!

Bare bottom butler check list:

1. Is it a surprise? Would you like a fun reveal?
2. Any requests? Do you have a theme or jokes to play?
3. Timings are to suit you, but just say if you need to start or end right on time.
4. Please, just as a favour, if possible, can the room be nice and warm? :-)

Thank you very much for booking!
